

The Art of Self-Care Ayurveda Retreat

Waimārama, Hawke's Bay

Join us for 3 nights in Waimārama

 the yoga travel co.

Brighten your wellbeing

Daily self-care is a radical act. Becoming familiar with the unique way you best metabolise food, fluid and life is the most precious gift you can offer yourself. Everything coming in through your five senses needs to be digested, assimilated, stored, or released for you to experience wellbeing. When you learn how to listen and respond to your body, you feel sweet and sassy in your own skin — there's the undeniable glow of someone who is fully embodied and fully alive.

Brighten your wellbeing

This 3-night women's only retreat is inspired by the elegant and everyday wisdom of an eastern system of health called Ayurveda. Together, we'll learn about the foundational principles of Ayurveda, how to discover your mind/body type, and how to recognise early signs of dis-ease. We'll explore ways to restore balance through nourishing embodied practices, daily rejuvenation, yoga and meditation, sacred ritual, and wholesome food. Embracing the timeless wisdom of Ayurveda will amplify wellbeing, deep contentment and resilience in all areas of your life.

What is Ayurveda?

Ayurveda, known as 'the divine knowledge of life', is a mind/body system of medicine and sister science of yoga. Inspired by the powerful laws of nature, Ayurveda offers a simple language and template to awaken radiant health from within.

Over 5,000 years ago, Ayurveda understood that most imbalances begin in the gut and if not corrected will eventually manifest as dis-ease. Ayurveda focuses on sustaining strong digestive strength through a combination of nourishing food, lifestyle guidance, and beautiful rejuvenation suited to your mind/body type.

Ayurveda is not a one-stop shop. While it honours universal laws, Ayurveda celebrates your distinct nature. Remedies and rituals are different for everyone because each of us is unique. At the heart of Ayurveda is a joyful daily and seasonal routine, inviting us to blend with the circadian rhythms of the day and the changing seasons of the year.

Teachers

Bridget Schaeffers

Bridget first discovered yoga in 2013 when her inner guide led her on a solo adventure to India. She attended her first yoga class in the spiritual town of Dharamshala, home to the Dalai Lama, an auspicious beginning, for certain.

Under the guidance of skillful teachers and the lens of her own devoted curiosity, Bridget's practice has deepened and evolved. She has studied in both India and New Zealand and is currently completing her advanced 300hr teacher training with The New Zealand Yoga Collective.

In 2018, Bridget combined her 6 years of tourism industry experience with her love for sharing yoga — and the Yoga Travel Co. was born. A true synergy of her passions — yoga, travel, and people. She believes that we're all connected through the universal power of love and can experience divine moments of truth, healing and transformation through these ancient practices. Living in the sunny Hawke's Bay with her daughter and husband, Bridget lives and teaches from the heart.

Eat

The most important ingredient in Ayurvedic cooking is ... love. You can eat the best organic food cooked by the best chefs but if the food is not prepared with love, then it's harder to digest.

We always cook with love and follow Ayurvedic principles of preparing fresh produce to create nourishing dishes that contain the six tastes: sweet, sour, salty, bitter, pungent and astringent. When all six tastes are present on the plate, our body and mind are satiated, serene and content.

While there is a focus on warm, cooked dishes, Ayurvedic cuisine is not limited to Indian food. Combining sattvic (harmonising) ingredients, eating seasonally, using fragrant spices to support digestion, and appreciating the delicious meal in front of you makes every meal an Ayurvedic feast!
